After all of the many bad things my white-man forefathers have done to the American Indian, one of the VERY LEAST things we can do is respect and adhere to the treaties we signed with them. The Makahs should be allowed to hunt whale as often as they want to, whenever they want to, right up to the point where the whale numbers are endangered. It's part of their heritage. They were hunting whale long before my forefathers got here and stole so many of their lands and rights away from them. We should remove the bureacracy and make it easy for them to hunt whale.
